

The Great Idea: Nature from the Syntopicon
OUTLINE OF TOPICS

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| I. Conceptions of nature  | 234 |
| la. Nature as the intrinsic source of a thing's properties and behavior   |     |
| (1) The distinction between essential and individual nature: generic or specific properties, and individual, contingent accidents                         |     |
| (2) Nature or essence in relation to matter and form  |     |
| 235   |     |
| 1b. Nature as the universe or the totality of things: the identification of God and nature; the distinction between natura naturans and natura naturata   |     |
| 235   |     |
| 1c. Nature as the complex of the objects of sense: the realm of things existing under the determination of universal laws                                 |     |
| 2. The antitheses of nature or the natural  | 236 |
| 2a. Nature and art: the imitation of nature; cooperation with nature  |     |
| 2b. Nature and convention: the state of nature and the state of society   |     |
| 2c. Nature and nurture: the innate or native and the acquired; habit as second nature   |     |
| 2d. Natural and violent motion  |     |
| 2e. The natural and the unnatural or monstrous: the normal and the abnormal   |     |
| 2f. The order of nature and the order of freedom: the phenomenal and the noumenal worlds; the antithesis of nature and spirit                             |     |
| 3. The order of nature  |     |
| 3a. The rationality of nature: the maxims and laws of nature  |     |
| 3b. Continuity and hierarchy in the order of nature   | 240 |
| 3c. Nature and causality 241  |     |
| (1) The distinction between the regular and the chance event: the uniformity of nature  |     |
| (2) The determinations of nature distinguished from the voluntary or free   |     |
| (3) Teleology in nature: the operation of final causes  | 242 |
| (4) Divine causality in relation to the course of nature: the preservation of nature; providence; miracles  | 243 |
| 4. Knowledge of nature or the natural   | 244 |
| 4a. Nature or essence as an object of definition  |     |
| 4b. Nature in relation to diverse types of science: the theoretic and the practical sciences; natural philosophy or science, mathematics, and metaphysics | 245 |
| 4c. Nature as an object of history  |     |
| 5. Nature or the natural as the standard of the right and the good  | 246 |
| 5a. Human nature in relation to the good for man  |     |
| 5b. Natural inclinations and natural needs with respect to property and wealth  |     |
| 5c. The naturalness of the state and political obligation   | 247 |
| 5d. The natural as providing a canon of beauty for production or judgment   |     |
| 6. Nature in religion and theology  | 248 |
| 6a. The personification and worship of nature   |     |
| 6b. Nature and grace in human life  |     |