

CHAPTER 79: RELIGION
From the Syntopicon

597

OUTLINE OF TOPICS

1. Faith as the foundation of religion
1a. The nature, cause, and conditions of faith: its specific objects
1b. The sources of religious belief
(1) Revelation: the word of God and divine authority
(2) Miracles and signs as divine confirmation
(3) The testimony of prophets: the anointed of God
2. The virtue and practice of religion: piety as justice to God	PAOB 602
2a. Prayer and supplication: their efficacy	604
2b. Worship and adoration: the rituals and ceremonials of religion	605
2c. The nature, institution, and uses of the sacraments	606
2d. Sacrifices and propitiations	607
2e. Fasting and almsgiving	608
2f. Purificatory rites: the remission of sin by baptism and penance	609
2g. Profanations and sacrileges
3. The religious life: religious offices and the religious community	610
3a. The Jewish conception of the religious community: the Torah and the Temple
3b. The Christian conception of the church: the doctrine of the mystical body of Christ	611
3c. The nature and organization of the religious community
(1) The institution of the priesthood and other ecclesiastical offices
(2) Ecclesiastical government and hierarchy	613
(3) The support of ecclesiastical institutions: tithes, contributions, state subsidy
3d. The monastic life: the disciplines of asceticism
4. Church and state: the issue concerning temporal and spiritual power	614
4a. Religion in relation to forms of government: the theocratic state	615
4b. The service of religion to the state and the political support of religion by the state
5. The dissemination of religion
5a. The function of preaching
5b. Religious conversion	616
5c. Religious education
6. Truth and falsity in religion	617
6a. The religious condemnation of idolatry, superstition, and other perversions of worship
6b. Religious apologetics: the defense of faith	618
6c. The unity and tradition of a religion
(1) Orthodoxy and heresy: the role of dogma in religion; the treatment of heretics
(2) Sects and schisms arising from divergences of belief and practice	619
6d. The relation of men of diverse faiths: the attitude of the faithful toward infidels
6e. Religious liberty: freedom of conscience; religious toleration	620
6f. The rejection of supernatural foundations for religion: the criticism of particular beliefs and practices; the psychogenesis of religion
6g. The relation between sacred doctrine and secular learning: the conflict of science and religion	621
7. Historical observations concerning religious beliefs, institutions, and controversies	