

OUTLINE OF TOPICS

	PAGE
1. The subject matter of theology: the scope of its inquiry; the range of its problems
891
2. The distinction between natural and sacred theology: its relation to the distinction between reason and faith
3. Theology as a philosophical discipline	892
3a. Natural theology in relation to other parts of philosophy: metaphysics, natural philosophy
3b. The distinction between speculative and moral theology: theology as a work of the practical reason
3c. The limitations of speculative theology: the insoluble mysteries or antinomies
4. Sacred theology: faith seeking understanding
4a. The relation of sacred theology to philosophy: theology as the queen of the sciences
4b. The principles of sacred theology: revealed truth; articles of faith; interpretation of Scripture	893
4c. The roles of reason and authority in the development of sacred doctrine: theological argument and proof
4d. Sacred theology as a speculative and practical science
4e. The nature and forms of theological heresy
5. Criticisms of theology: the dogmatic, sophistical, or over-dialectical character of theological controversy	894